

MERT BUTUNER

ARTIST BIOGRAPHY//

Describing his sound as 'hard hitting and electro influenced' but also 'uplifting and emotional', Mert Butuner has been making a huge impact on the UK clubbing scene.

His love for orchestral music alongside his passion for Dance music creates a beautiful hybrid genre, key to this individual's high popularity. Playing the piano since a young age alongside a keen interest in DJing, Butuner has all the attributes of a future star musician who can tour the world performing to large audiences.

Mert Butuner is dreaming big by setting his goals on working with A-list names like Hardwell and Nicky Romero in the future, and this confidence in his ability is going to take the young man far. Taking inspiration from other young producers such as Martin Garrix, he is keen to show the industry he too can master more than one genre.

2018 has been a landmark year for the Manchester based artist and it's clear to see why. He followed up his debut Ensis Records release called 'Initiation', he unleashed 'Inferno', which quickly gained mammoth support and airplay from Blasterjaxx on their Maximize On Air radio show, as well as climbing to the number 29 spot on the Beatport charts – a dream come true for many aspiring producers. Proving a solid base, this lead to Mert releasing 'Rocket Beat' on Goldfire Records, support and radio play from Umme Ozcan, Culture Code, Wolfpack and a prestigious spots on the line ups for Ministry of Sound alongside Tommy Trash and Pink Panda and VIVA Manchester – accomplishments many strive to achieve.

Mert's music fits perfectly in to any nightclub set and with a future where he will certainly be touring and spinning his ever-expanding list of releases, he will soon be on the lips of the biggest artists in the business. Mert Butuner has already put himself on the map but won't stop until he has gone worldwide.
